“ Junior and I were inseparable for a lot of years but remained friends into adulthood even after our lives took different paths. I recall a lot of memories of our less than intelligent acts but the one that stands out most is when we walked almost eight miles to buy a pack of cigarettes when we were probably 14 years old and staying with my Grandparents who were watching over a farm in Concord for friends on vacation. His passing makes me the last of the Colony Road, Pea Ridge, Hill's Lane Gang of the 50's and early 60's. The term gang had a totally different meaning in those days, we were just a bunch of kids that hung around together. Rest in peace my friend, it won't be too long before we'll meet again.

Carson, he spoke about you a LOT. He said you were his best "bud" coming up. Many good times for all of us on "Pea Ridge". Thanks for remembering him.
