

Bryan Enrique Godoy

December 1, 1975 - January 15, 2023

In Loving Memory of Bryan Enrique Godoy, born December 1st, 1975 and passed away on January 15, 2023. He is survived by his wife Vanessa Stover Godoy; twin daughters, Sierra Jacquelyn Godoy, and Brooke Elizabeth Godoy; parents, Sandra and Dave Jester; brothers, David Jester and John Jester; nephew, Grant Jester and numerous extended family.

We remember Bryan for his big wide smile, quirky sense of humor and infectious laugh. At his own jokes or a video he found hilarious, he would wriggle up in his chair and squeal in laughter that made everyone in the room fall out. He was forever curious and became very knowledgeable on many subjects including nutrition, cooking, cocktails, cars, collectibles, architecture, and technology.

Bryan loved his twin daughters intensely, wrapping their infant bodies securely in their blankets like two taquitos, sleeping on the floor when they were sick or scared, sharing his cooking skills, attending a multitude of school functions and sporting events. He believed in their talents and skills that will one day help them become strong and successful women.

Bryan will be sorely missed by so many and will remain lovingly in our hearts forever.

A celebration of life will be held at 11am on Saturday, January 28 at St. Johns Family Funeral Home. Those unable to attend can view the service live-streamed wow it has been 7 months and still feels like you left us yesterday. only those with depression can understand what you were feeling but we missed you and i wish i could have done more for you, my brother. People say, you were smart, you were these and that, but i wish i could say, you still are. I think of you every day - i know you are in a better place. But you left too soon. i remembered the time we lived together with our grandma and mom. so many memories because that is all we have left. I still have the last text you sent me. i miss you my brother - i really do. i know your soul is at peace now but wish i could hug you and joke with you.

The strangest thing happened. I never knew the exact date you died All I knew is that I lost you. But yesterday I started writing you a rock song and since yesterday I have been so overwhelmed with sadness and I couldn't understand why. I tried to look you up and forgot your last name. Lol Well you knew how clueless your cousin always been. But then I see that the date was the 15th and now it makes more sense of why I feel the way I feel. You would think that things would of got easier since your passing but it seems like I feel just as worse as when it sunk in the beginning. I miss you so much!!

Hello my brother, it has been 9 months since told you were gone. I have asked soooo many times why he allow you to go . There's a song I have heard many times and it didn't bother me but after left , I can't listen to it . I can't explain why so I think of you . I read the text you last sent me and I wish I pull you down so mom can hug you one more time but I can't and I start crying . I think of you every day and I am sorry you had to deal with this pain alone . I know you are resting and free of pain but we want you here and can't bring you back . This pain will never go out . We will always love you 🥺 hello my brother, another month without you. so many times, when i wake up during the night, I ask if it was just a dream because people that love you misses you like crazy. many memories left behind. No more jokes to hear. when i see mom, i see a broken heart because she misses you. I know you are resting and free of the pain you were holding in your heart. No one knows and will not understand the pain until they live it. I still have the texts i sent you and i read all the time. So many times, i have asked God to bring you back, so those who love you could have you again. I know you found the peace you needed - but we miss you a lot. It has not been easy to have you here - all i have are memories but those don't help the ease the pain. I will always love you -

Hello my brother. a few days ago was Thanksgiving. I prayed with my family before dinner, and I could not really be thankful because you are not here. i have read so much about and i keep asking God why. I know you had so much pain in your heart and wish we could have been there for you when you needed it the most. I am so sorry - You are peace now and don't have to worry about anything or anyone but I wish you could see mom. Breaks my heart so see her without her son. love you and always will. Your birthday is almost here -

Today is your birthday, how could i ever forget it, is my granddaughter's birthday too. I love you, miss you - the hardest part is to see mom - so broken for you not being here. How can i bring you back - but i don't want you here if you have to continue suffering - you are better with our grandma. I am sorry i could not have done more for you - i miss you - I don't like to see your picture yet - i can't handle it. I am sorry - love you - have heavenly birthday

Bryan

On the 19th month of your departure

Memories of you should make me happy, instead the grief that you are gone and I will that I will never see you again makes me grief more. There is a sacredness in tears. They are not the mark of weakness, but of power. They speak more eloquently than ten thousands tongues. They are the messengers of overwhelming grief, of deep contrition and of unspeakable love. It has been three years and three months since you left us, and on the outside, life seems to have gone on as it once was.
But in our hearts, there is a space that only you can fill,
a quiet place that time cannot heal.
You are loved, you are missed, and you are with us—always.

The reality is that you will grieve forever. you will not get over the loss of a loved one: you learn to live with it . You will heal and you will rebuild yourself around the loss you have suffered. You will be hole again but you will never be the same. Nor should you be the same nor would you want to. written by Elisabeth Kubler - Ross and David Kessler.

Love you Bryan, be in peace wherever you are.

BRYAN

While watching a program called Grantchester yesterday, the episode happened to be about a person who died by suicide. My son, Bryan, took his life three years ago tomorrow.

At one time, someone said to me, "I am so sorry—he will never go to heaven." I listened to her words, but I wish she had simply said, "I am sorry." I trust that God, who knows the depth of Bryan's suffering, has welcomed him with mercy and love.

In the program, the priest said:

"Life is a glorious gift, one that should not be discarded lightly.

But for some, the trials of life can be a terrible burden.

No one can truly understand the depth of another's suffering.

Verily, I say unto you, all sins shall be forgiven unto the sons of men."

Every day, but especially as his anniversary arrives, I wish I had been there with Bryan to support him. I often wonder if the outcome could have been different.

Now he is gone, and I can only imagine the depth of his suffering. I pray that God has wrapped him in peace and love, and that Bryan is finally at rest.

Forever loved. Forever missed

“I am at a loss for words. I know there is nothing for me to say that will make this loss easier I hope you can understand what I can't put into words.”

My beautiful cousin Bryan is in some of my favorite memories. Know that the mark he left is a great one, and because of this, he never will really be gone, I will forever cherish the memories we made together the laughter, the food all the heart felt hugs when we were sad about something, my cousin Bryan was truly a memorable loving kind soul...

Bryan's place can never be filled, and his loss will be with us forever. But his memories should be treasured and his life celebrated for the amazing person he was, this is not a good bye cousin, this is I'll see you later ❤️❤️❤️

“ Bryan,
I am heartbroken to know that you have left us and our chat a few months ago would be our last. I will always treasure the memories I had with you. From you giving me food advice , to our car trip up the Florida coast to you buying my first rock CD. It was Green Day. You always had a smile and made me laugh. You will always be remembered in our family. I know my Tia Queta is there with open arms. I love you, will miss you but I will see you later. Your cousin Kelly

“ My cousin was a beautiful person. I can only count a few people on one hand that I regard as really good, sincere, honest, and angelic. Brian was definitely one of them. It hurts so bad that a person that was sooo kind , such a gentle soul is gone. I loved his smile, his laugh, his jokes. He was like no other. No matter how many years we lost touch with each other when we did talk or see each other it felt so natural and his conversations were so memorable because of his beautiful personality. He would keep me laughing and laughing at me, his crazy cousins and of course his crazy grandfather! We will forever miss Brian. He will always be in my thoughts and in my heart!
