Heather Michelle Kirkland

June 30, 1977 - March 14, 2016

Heather Michelle Scholbe Kirkland, age 38, of St. Marys, Georgia, passed away on March 14, 2016 at the Mayo Clinic in Jacksonville, FL, with her family by her side. She was born in Homestead, Florida, and grew up in an Army family which allowed her the opportunity to live in several different places, including Germany. After moving to Pocatello, Idaho, Heather met her husband, Jess Kirkland, to whom she was married for 13 years. They relocated to Moscow, Idaho, where they lived until 2006, and to the Ontario/Payette community until 2014. During that time, Heather was part of a support group for people with PAH (Pulmonary Arterial Hypertension). She also was an active member of her church: Ontario First Church of the Nazarene, where she taught Sunday School, worked with the youth and led a Women's bible study. They moved to St. Marys two years ago where she became an active member of Camden Cross Roads Community Church, where she also worked with students and taught Sunday School. Above all, Heather was a very loving person, a devoted wife, mother, and daughter. A celebration of her life will be held at 4:00 p.m. (guests may arrive up to an hour earlier) on Monday, March 21 2016 at Camden Cross Roads Community Church in St. Marys (11942 Colerain Road, St. Marys, GA 31558), with Pastor Ian Dent officiating. She is survived by her husband, Jess Kirkland, and a daughter, Violet Kirkland, both of St. Marys, GA; parents, Loretta and Roger Scholbe of St. Marys; grandparents, Norma and Chalmer Wren, Jr., of Stanton, TX; mother-in-law and father-in-law, Cecelia and Jack Kirkland of Stites, Idaho; brother-in-law, Jeremy Kirkland of Washington; sister-in-law, Melissa Nicholson of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; aunt, Virginia Whitehurst of Stanton, TX; and an uncle, Donald Kissinger of Austin, TX. St. Johns Family Funeral Home in St. Augustine, FL is in charge of the arrangements.
