Helen was a devoted Christian and member of Anastasia Baptist Church. She enjoyed music and theater, playing the clarinet and acting in plays in high school and college. Helen taught elementary school in Nashville, Tennessee for 28 years before retiring with her husband to St Augustine in 1991. She resumed her love of music and combined it with her commitment to God by playing the clarinet in the church orchestra. She also volunteered her time with the choral department at St Augustine High School.

She is deeply missed by her son Charles (Pam) Powell II; daughter Marianne (Ricky) Armstrong; three grandchildren: Brandy (Martijn) Heuts, Ashley (Geoff) Johnson, and Joshua (Katie) Armstrong; four great-grandchildren: Grace, Noah, Matthew and Alice; and one sister Katha (Lewis) Robards.

She is preceded by her husband Charles "Pack" Powell; her parents; two brothers: Hollis Jr and John Kimmons; and sister Carol Kimmons.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to "4 Generations To Come Building Fund" at Anastasia Baptist Church, 1650 A1A South, St Augustine, FL 32080 in Helen's name.

“ So many memories over the years. First met Helen on Sunday in 1991 when she visited Anastasia Baptist. She reminded me often of this young redhead mom with a well dressed young son who first came up to her and welcomed her to Anastasia.

Then many birthday celebrations with Helen, Cookie, Julia and myself.

But I will never forget how she, Cookie, MaryAnn took me to Longhorn when I finally got a teaching job in StJohns County. We ate dessert first.

Then there were the trips to Ridgecrest for Music week with Keith Pate and too many others to mention. Eating ice cream at the Nibble Nook.

I've taken over in orchestra that I can't play all the black notes (16th and 32nd notes) but rarely can get away with it like she could. I wish I could hear her playing her clarinet in heaven and not leaving out those black notes. Someday I will see the Sunshine Lady again.
Love and prayers, Margaret Cody (aka Sillysocks)
