“ Jim was my oldest brother by 13 years, and left home for the service when I was 5. My main memories of him are when he had time to visit us, and my favorite memory was the time my mother and I visited him in Florida in 2002. After that visit, he came and spent Thanksgiving with all of us here in Kentucky for a few years. It breaks my heart there won't be any more visits with him.

Dad passed on his interests to me and I have become the man he was. These interests have grounded me in challenging times. The love of camping, fishing, the Ocean, cooking breakfast and coffee on a Coleman stove. The Washington Redskins and always pulling for the underdog!

Dad was my hero. He was loyal, caring and always always a hard worker. I remember hearing him getting ready for work every morning at literally @ 4:30am all throughout my younger years.

I will miss you Dad...I wish I had come out to Florida more often and honestly can't remember all of the reasons I couldn't now - because they are just not actually important. I guess I always thought there would be more time...

I love you Dad.

In many ways, my father was my hero. He was a great father, great role model and a great friend. He taught me what it meant to have a moral compass - taught me about the importance of doing the right thing even for people who don't deserve it - taught me how to take on responsibility no matter what the situation was and ultimately taught me why it's so important to be fair and honest with the people you love and care about. I will miss him more than words can say - I will miss crabbing with him and my children in Wildwood NJ - having dinner with him, Nanna and my kids on the boardwalk and how my brother and I could always call him about the Redskins. I will always remember the good times, the laughter and our long discussions about life and growing up. Love you Dad.
