“ Honestly, I didn't believe it at first, I asked the person that told me if they were joking with me.? Oh man why did he have to get that darn thing. I'm so sad right now so I can only imagine how you guys are feeling. I wish there was something I could say or do to help make you feel better, but I know there isn't. So, I'm just going to say that I love you guys very much & if there's anything I can do for any of you, please let me know. I've had a lot of memories with Jeff, but I've never had a bad one. Loved him like a brother & always will.
