“ What a man and what a life in Christ. Kelly is the person God used to bring me, my wife and our family to Christ as well as many others. He was loved and highly respected by all who new him. He was a wonderful person with with high integrity, and great love for all. He was always looking for the best in everyone and though he suffered many hardships in the past few years I never heard him complain. He was a devoted husband, father, grand father, great grand father and a real example of what a true Christian should be in this live. He will be greatly missed by our family and was the best friend and brother in law I could ever have wished for. Now their is no more pain, no more sorrow, no more tears he is in the presence of Jesus and all of his loved ones who have gone on before. Praise the Lord for receiving my brother into eternal life. Love now & forever, Mac McIntosh

“ Life seems to have many journey's, but the one that hold us closest is when we say goodbye. Though we are here and it seems like waiting for Eternity is forever, but there is a time when goodbye's will never be uttered. Jesus has once again placed his hands on Kelly and as in the day of his conversion, Kelly has had another live changing event. Eternity with JESUS what better could we ask for. He has gathered with that great cloud of witnesses.
