Ken lived his life like he drove his cars, fast and non-stop. He was the life of every party and the person that everyone gravitated to because of his positive personality and welcoming smile. Ken was a huge supporter and cheerleader of his children and their interests. Boats and boating with his son Jamie, golf with his son Andrew and horses with his daughter, Jillian. Ken believed family was the most important thing and during the last year of his life, he spent lots of quality time with his family. He even flew to Rhode Island to give himself a
