“ Hi, You don't know me but I am the daughter of the man that your daughter is buried next to. I just wanted to tell you how truly, truly sorry I am for your loss and that your daughter is buried next to a wonderful, caring man. I have two daughter's myself 14 and 10 and can not even imagine what you must be going through right now. There's not a day that goes by that I don't miss or think of my dad. I find comfort in knowing that he is no longer in pain and is in a better place now like your daughter. One day we will see our love ones again. My thoughts and prayers are with you. Anna Miller

“ Kourtney, You've been waiting a long time to get your "Angel Wings!" Now you have them! You bravely fought the battle raging in your tiny body. Your little eyes told the story you could not of how weary you were. I am so proud of you "Little Angel" for the determination you had to keep fighting to stay here for those you loved! But at last God called and brought you safely to Heaven in His Arms. At last you are running with Cierra as she shows you all over Heaven... trying out those new wings! You girls can have a "Tea Party" every day! We love you so much but would never wish you back to this world of pain. I can still hear your tiny cries. You and Cierra both are at last where God wants you and neither of you... have any more battles to fight! Mom is doing okay... not to worry! Loving You Still, Cierra's granny

“ Donna... Joe and I are very sorry we could not join you and Jeremy for Kourtney's Celebration of Life Ceremony. Our hearts were and are with you both. I must be honest...when life seemed to get me down I would go to your FB page and read about what was going on with her and stroll through your pictures. Somehow seeing that beautiful little angel face made my day brighter. The 3 of you are an inspiration to me and for that I thank you. I know your angel is looking down on you both smiling...knowing she has the greatest mommy and big brother any little girl could ever hope for. Love and hugs... Julie
