I will never forget Michael. When I was in middle school, we became friends when I visited his class. I met his brother Andrew. We used to talk on the phone all the time and he called me his girlfriend. He was so funny and he loved music, specifically the Allman Brothers. We talked about the President at the time. I just purely loved talking to him on the phone. Before his family moved to Florida, I visited them a few times. I will always miss Michael but I know he lived a great life and he made a difference in the lives of so many. Thanks Mike, for changing my life.

I wish I could have met him. Such beautiful memories to cherish a lifetime. He seemed so happy, but ofcourse that was easy with parents like the both of you. I have tears of joy and sadness. Joy for all the happiness he gave and sadness for such a beautiful and wonderful human being “ Michael, you will be missed so much by everyone that had the privilege of meeting you. You had a laugh that was contagious, loved spending time with family and friends & you made friends feel like family. There are so many memories that I hold dearly and will cherish forever. From attending your graduation to attending sporting events, we all had a blast no matter the occasion! I remember you being so excited throughout my pregnancy with mason and I will never forget how happy you were to go to the hospital and finally hold him when he was born. Seeing the love you had and the raw emotions melted my heart in so many ways. Sending our love and condolences to the entire Gallagher family and friends.

“ Oh, Michael. We met on December 6, 2006. You changed my life.

You were my student for two years...but you taught me to be a better teacher. Since that time you have been my friend. It has always been a blast to see you. I don't think there was a single time hanging out with you that we didn't share some big time laughs!

Miss you...
