“ Philip Dietz is a criminal. In 2015 he was arrested for stealing with 15 counts of dealing in stolen property. He stole from his parents and was attempting to buy drugs with it. He was a bully and a liar and deserved his death. Just before his death he was released early for testifying against an innocent man with the help of prosecutor in Florida to illegally conspire against a victim. Leading to a false conviction and his early release. Which because of the events that unfolded he was killed shortly after. That’s called karma. Had Philip Louis Dietz stayed in jail and done his time and not falsify evidence against the innocent he would very well still be alive. Proving in some twisted way god smites the wicked.
