“ I met Mrs. Wilson about four decades ago when her daughter Linda and I were classmates in junior high school. Linda and her mother had a relationship I didn't know could exist between mother and daughter. Mrs. Wilson always welcomed me into her home showing compassion and kindness for this shy, introverted, and socially awkward kid. She listened and had a way of guiding and helping us find our way. A special lady indeed who made a difference in more people's lives than she ever knew. Rest in Peace dear Mrs. Wilson.

“ My dear Ruthie,
She was my cousin and my best friend. We were as close as two sisters could ever be, sharing everything. Our mother's were sisters in law and best friends also. We grew up together only six months difference in age. She taught kindergarten for many years in several different schools. She used to say "She never passed kindergarten." She was so pleased when her granddaughter, Anna, chose to become a teacher. She loved to read. She always had a book by her side. She had a great sense of humor. When we were little, our Grandmother used to call us "You Gigglers" She was very smart. She took the subway from Queens to Manhattan to attend and graduate from Hunter College High School. Quite an accomplishment!

My dear Ruthie. You know I love you, will miss you terribly, but I know we will see each other again.

“ I was always so proud when Ruth called me her third daughter, as I loved and admired her so much, She had a strength and a positive spirit that I will never forget
She kindly welcomed me into her home at a time when I needed hope. She listened, encouraged, and made me feel that I mattered. By her example, she inspired me to go into education. I will miss her so much.

“ I love Aunt Ruth. She was the smartest, kindest woman I've ever met. Loved her family. She was an educator in all ways. When I was a teenager, she bought me a beautiful encyclopedia and a set on our presidents, which I read both over and over for many years. I loved visiting her and Uncle John for lots of Spring Breaks. She was always so vibrant, happy, forward-looking! I'm sure she will be trying to nudge St. Peter aside to happily greet everyone into heaven.
