“ Trecia, you were such a bright lite for your family as a child. I think often of the great care you provided for grandma in her last years. Such a blessing. Life was tough and the challenges it present. I pray you are now without pain and suffering. RIP Trecia.

“ The day you left this world, I was driving home from work. Just before I pulled into the driveway, "Total Eclipse of the Heart" came on the radio. In an instant, I was transported back to that unforgettable trip you, Kim, and Jen and I took to Florida with Grandma and Grandpa. The memory brought a smile through the sadness. We all piled into that big old Suburban, full of laughter and snacks, and by the time we reached Florida, poor Grandpa had heard that song so many times on the radio, he swore he never wanted to hear it again. And I can still hear him grumbling about never wanting to see another McDonald's as long as he lived — those Golden Arches nearly did him in. 😊 Now, I take comfort knowing you're at peace, reunited with your mom and dad. You're home again. And though you are deeply missed, your memory continues to bring warmth, laughter, and love.
