“ I met Vince in 2008 when he worked at Lund Cadillac. My husband and I were shopping for a new Cadillac Crossover, and after seeing them, decided they were too small. Vince took me on a test drive of a Hummer H3 and it was love at first sight. I still have the car! He found out my husband really wanted a Cadillac XLR-V and 2 weeks later, I came home to find Vince in our driveway with a new XLR-V, convincing my husband he just couldn't live without it. Not a hard sell! And although my husband has passed away, I still have that Cadillac with it's 28,000 miles! Vince was one of a kind for a sure, and I'm saddened to read of his passing. My condolences to his wife and family. Bet he's up in Heaven making some kind of deal with my husband!

“ Vincent was truly the definition of a big brother. He taught me so much growing up, always knew what to say, and how to make me laugh. We didn't get to see much of each other throughout the years however, we always knew our hearts were connected, and I realize now more than ever that he will always have a piece of it. I'll miss you Vincent. Rest in Peace.
