“ I remember the long standing bond me and my stepfather had, we once watched forrest gump together and ever since that we started calling each other forrest and bubba. He made my mom happy and i remember the time i took him to his first steelers game at least i know now he is in good health and in no more pain. He is standing next to my grandfather Stephen now. Going to miss you Bubba but i know u are in a better place.

“ Although I have only known Bill and his devoted wife Nancy the last couple of years, I have witnessed their great love, their strong faith and their extreme courage in dealing with Bill's illness. I feel very fortunate that I could share in Bill's last days, and am confident that Bill is at peace with his Lord, Jesus Christ.
